When it comes to design and quality, we are reinventing the wheel. Time and time again.

Where progressive design meets premium quality, it takes more than a good eye. Above all else, the right touch is required. For the right materials. For the absolute accuracy of fit. And for the value of each individual component. That is why we are constantly improving our production processes, are always on the look-out for the best materials and regularly question our test criteria. Audi Genuine Accessories wheels are also testament to this ambition: These products undergo extensive testing to ensure a high level of quality. For example, wheels that are pre-damaged through simulated stone chips are sprayed with a highly corrosive acetic acid and saline solution over the course of several days. The wheels must then meet the stringent requirements of subsequent tests. To ensure this is the case, a complex casting process is used to deliver high component strength. In addition, the sophisticated multi-layer paint offers further protection against wear and ensures a high-gloss finish. A host of good reasons to opt for wheels from Audi Genuine Accessories – and show you have the right touch. Find out more about our current range of wheels from page 10 onwards.

Round off an Audi in true style. With cast aluminium wheels that are perfected prior to their production. By designers who give you their best. Designed and developed using high-tech tools, each cast aluminium wheel is a masterpiece.
